Neighborhood Health CEO Receives Award

Anita Monoian, chief executive officer of Yakima Neighborhood

Health Services, has received the National Association of Community Health Centers (NACHC) Grassroots Hall of Fame Award. This national award is presented to individuals who have made valuable contributions to the expansion, survival, and strength of the health centers program serving the uninsured and medically underserved.

Monoian

Monoian was one of six leaders to receive the award. She has served as vice speaker of the group's House since 2004.

She has been CEO of Neighborhood Health Services for 29 of the organization's 32-year history. The agency has a main campus in downtown Yakima and offices in Sunnyside.

Creekside Realty Opens Development In Quincy

Creekside Realty of Yakima has announced the grand opening of Serenata Housing Development in Quincy.

With big businesses moving to Quincy, like Microsoft and Yahoo, the development is expected to fill a growing need for high-end housing.

Serenata consists of 134 single-family homes intended for people with moderate to high incomes. The open house will feature three model homes ranging in price from $429,000 to $482,500, said Christina Hoover, Creekside broker.

The Grand Opening is set for Saturday, April 28th and Sunday, April 29th, from 11 to 4 in Quincy.

Ecology Awards Grant To Built Green Effort

The state Department of Ecology awarded a $50,000 grant to the new Central Washington Built Green Association program.

Built Green, which is still being developed, will be a voluntary certification program for new homes. When launched later this year it will give builders construction guidelines to get homes certified through their use of environmentally sound products, practices and energy efficiency. The grant will be paid over two years.
