2007 has been a year of transformation for Open Door. The number of patients seen at Open Door increased nearly 10% from 34,000 in 2006 to more than 36,000 in 2007. We continue to be a medical home to a diverse community with multiple health care needs. The significant investment made in information technology this year allows us to improve every aspect of care and improve the health of the entire community one patient at a time.

INVESTMENT IN TECHNOLOGY

In 2007, Open Door made a significant purchase to upgrade our clinical and business information systems with the implementation of eClinicalworks and Dentrix, electronic applications for the physicians' and dentists' offices. Open Door's implementation stands in contrast to most public and private medical and dental practices across the country, the majority of whom have been slow to move away from paper records. Although electronic record keeping has been a priority for Open Door for many years, in 2007 we had the resources to purchase integrated systems for both practice management and clinical records. Thanks to private grant funds that supported the purchase of our new systems, we will realize a return on investment in less than two years and further improve the quality of care we render to our patients.

Because Open Door sits at the intersection of medical practice and public health, we use our new systems to meet the needs of individual patients while enhancing the health status of the entire community. Electronic information allows us to organize patient data in useful ways to support patient care and treatment decisions, to transmit orders to clinical labs, prescriptions to pharmacists, referrals to specialists and to aggregate data from thousands of patients and visits for clinical reporting. It allows us to enhance care delivery in ways that were nearly impossible before.

HOW TECHNOLOGY IMPROVES PLANNED CARE

A distinguishing feature of Open Door's clinical program is a commitment to Planned Care, which ensures that patients receive recommended care and health screenings. Through prompts embedded in the electronic record, patients receive recommended screenings, referrals, immunizations and other services at appropriate intervals. Additionally, Open Door's culturally competent patient advocate staff is integrated into every care team, supporting providers by directly assisting patients with their care plan and using tracking and recall systems to reach out to patients to ensure follow-up. And in numerous support group sessions across our network, patients are further engaged in their care plans with education focused on prenatal care, nutrition, diabetes, asthma and HIV.

This is an important time in Open Door's history as we press for quality care for every patient. We have been truly fortunate to have the unwavering support of our community partners, donors and friends. For that, we extend our deepest appreciation.
